

Builder's Legacy Society

Habitat for Humanity North Central Massachusetts has made significant strides toward eliminating poverty housing throughout our region. But we know that our mission to end poverty housing will take more than one lifetime to achieve.

Future generations will continue to struggle against hardship and homelessness. Today, the Habitat for Humanity North Central Massachusetts Builder's Legacy Society aims toward continuing Habitat's important work into the next millennium. When you leave a Builders Legacy, you demonstrate your commitment to the humanitarian mission of Habitat for Humanity North Central Massachusetts and help ensure the long-term strength of our affiliate.

The Society was founded to recognize the importance of legacy gifts in accomplishing the vision of a world without poverty housing. As a member, you benefit Habitat for Humanity North Central Massachusetts after your lifetime, whether in the form of a bequest, annuity or other planned giving arrangement. We hope you will notify us of your plans. You needn't reveal any financial details of your planning, but if you are comfortable doing so, this information may be helpful in our long-range financial planning.

The society gives recognition to those who share Habitat's vision for the future. If you have already arranged for a bequest or other planned gift, we would like to honor your support. Your gift can be recognized publicly or you may remain anonymous, if you prefer.

If you have questions about the Habitat for Humanity North Central Massachusetts Builders Legacy Society or would like to acknowledge that you have made a planned gift to our affiliate, please contact Director of External Affairs, Meg Bagdonas.
